THE great reputation, acquired by the late SAMUEL TYSSSEN, Esq. as a Collector of Coins and Medals, both ancient and modern, is so universally acknowledged, and so firmly established, that it seems almost unnecessary to dwell, a single moment, upon the extent and value of the Cabinet, now offered to the Public, which, it may be truly said, is rich beyond all example. To a fortune extremely ample Mr. Tyssen added the most indefatigable perseverance, by which scarcely a day was suffered to elapse, without some addition being made to his Collection; nor, in the zeal which he shewed for attainments of this kind, was any expense spared, for if his wealth and industry were alike notorious, so was his liberality equally conspicuous. In addition to the immense number of single articles, which his own judgment enabled him to purchase at sales and of private hands, throughout a long and unremitted attention to numismatic pursuits, his Cabinet became gradually enriched by three of the most elegant and important collections, which have ever been formed, by individual exertion at least, in this country. After what has been said, it may be almost superfluous to mention the collections of Edward Solly, Esq. the Rev. Richard Southgate, and Edward Hodfoll, Esq. collections sufficient, of themselves, to confer the highest celebrity upon any cabinet, in which they were united. But these were not the only aids, of which Mr. Tyssen availed himself; numberless other parcels of Coins and Medals were also bought by him, both at home and on the continent; so that, the collection in its present accumulated state, contains the consolidated labours of many lives, and now affords an infinitely larger and richer assemblage of medallic treasures, than was ever yet sold by public sale in any part of Europe. In the following Catalogue care has been taken, that the best only of every specimen should be inserted; the others having been invariably consigned to the furnace. Having stated this, it only remains to be added, that, whatever was the extent and the value of Mr. Tyssen's collection, the whole of it is now submitted, without any reserve, to the Public, with the exception only of what has been converted into bullion, and of the series of Ancient British and Saxon Coins, which latter have been purchased by the British Museum, a repository of all others the most fit for so noble, and, in this country, so interesting a suite: and the Public are highly indebted to the Trustees for the zeal and vigilance, which, upon this occasion they have manifested, for the honor and interest of the House, over which they so worthily preside, and for the signal benefit which they have thus conferred upon the nation at large.
